

BRILLEUM

— TRANSFORMING PROCESS • IMPROVING PERFORMANCE —

You've had the deck. You've had the spec. Now get it working.

Brilleum is for the problems nobody has written down yet. We take them as they arrive, and stay until they work.

We're backing the Transformation category because we love change that actually happened, and can be proven.

Organised by the Energy Industries Council

The messy middle is where we work.

Here's the pattern. A consultant spends weeks on a beautiful deck, then leaves. A tech vendor asks for a clear spec, and you realise writing it was the hard part. Somehow you end up stitching the two together.

We built a firm for exactly that gap.

We're who you'd call if you could pick the team yourself. Our people have spent years inside real transformations: sourcing programmes that had to save money, processes that had to survive the field, software that had to work on a Monday morning, change that had to stick.

So we don't need your problem pre-packaged. Describe it the way you would to a colleague. We'll work out what's really going on, then build what fixes it, from one team.

Not a classic consultancy. Not a software shop. The bridge between them.

1

Tell us

Describe it like you would to a colleague. No spec, no brief, no polished problem statement.

2

We build it

We work out what's really wrong, then deliver the fix: process, sourcing, software, AI.

3

It sticks

Your people adopt it, the results show up, and then we step back.

Sound familiar?

Four practices. One team. We've heard it all before.

"Our spend and suppliers feel out of control."

Procurement and sourcing
Spend and supply base, reset.

"Work takes too long and nobody can say why."

Process and digital transformation
Traced, redesigned, digitised.

"Nothing off the shelf quite fits."

Bespoke AI and software
Built for your operation.

"We tried change before. It didn't stick."

Change management
Adoption that lasts.

Tell us what's broken.
We'll take it from there.
